AT a Meeting of the Board of Directors held on the 3d of September, '96, at the General Office of the Mutual Aſſurance Society againſt fire on buildings in this State:—Reſolved that the following be publiſhed.

Doubts having ariſen under the Conſtitution, Rules and Regulations of the ſaid Society, whether thoſe who had paid their premiums unto the Caſhier-general, had their property inſured from the day of payment. The following queſtion has been ſubmitted to John Marſhall, John Wickham, and Edmund Randolph, Eſqs.—to wit:

Are thoſe perſons who have paid, or may hereafter pay, their reſpective premiums entitled to the benefit of aſſurance, under the law conſtituting the ſociety, and the conſtitution, rules, and regulations thereof, before the premiums upon the certified value of buildings to the amount of 1,500,000 dollars are paid?

Who have each given his opinion at large, all agreeing, that the inſurance takes place from the day of payment, although the premium to the amount of 1,500,000 dollars have not been paid in; and although the policies have not iſſued. And as it appears that thoſe who have given in their declarations are bound to pay the premiums, with an intereſt thereon, and may be ſubject to pay for their proportion of loſſes, in addition, although they are not to have the benefit of inſurance until they pay their premiums, will readily ſee in how diſadvantageous a ſituation they ſtand while they remain delinquents.

MR. PRICE,

THE charges exhibited by Colonel SIMMS and others againſt Mr. JEFFERSON, in order to prove his unfitneſs for the office of Preſident of the United States, being, no doubt, collected from vague reports, and coloured according to the feelings of party, it is hoped that the good and judicious citizens of Fairfax, Prince William, and Stafford will ſuſpend their belief in thoſe charges, and guard againſt any premature and undue impreſſions, until Mr. BRENT's intended addreſs ſhall make its appearance. This addreſs, the writer of this caution feels himſelf authoriſed in ſaying, is only delayed for the purpoſe of procuring inconteſtible evidence of a true ſtate of the caſe.

A REPUBLICAN.

DEMOCRATS AND JACOBINS
THE UNITED STATES;

HUZZA! my lads—Huzza!—The long wiſhed for glorious epoch has at length arrived, and WASHINGTON reſigns the preſidential chair. Neglect not now the happy opportunity, but riſe and exert yourſelves. The Palladium of the Conſtitution is at length removed, and this is the time to make a freſh one. Let hope invigorate your brazen lungs—ſpread wide the democratic yell.—Electors are now to be choſen—Should any man aſpire to this office, without an implicit declaration in favour of JEFFERSON, let him be branded as a friend to Monarchy; let every democratic finger point him out as one who wiſhes to enſlave his country—Let your fertile inventions fabricate ſome ſtory favourable to that opinion, and let the buſy whiſper circulate throughout the diſtrict. From long practice you have gained a proficiency in this art, which the preſent occaſion affords an happy opportunity of exerciſing to advantage.——Neither HENRY nor ADAMS will ſuit our purpoſe; they poſſeſs too much of that firmneſs and curſed ſtrength of nerves, which we have found ſo repugnant to our intentions in the preſent Preſident, and which we have reaſon to hope will not be found to be poſſeſſed by Mr. JEFFERSON in ſo high a degree. The feeble and timid adminiſtration which we may expect from him, will afford us happy proſpects of ſucceſs in our deſigns. From him we may hope, that the ſpirited remonſtrances, and fiery reſolves of our moſt intelligent and magnanimous ſocieties, throughout the Union, will not meet with that contempt with which they have hitherto been treated. He, my brethren, will not ſo obſtinately refuſe to be guided and directed by our brethren the French, who certainly know better what is for our intereſt than we do, and whoſe glorious offers of the Fraternal-hug have hitherto been ſo ungratefully refuſed. Indeed there is no calculating how far we may ſucceed in our deſigns. Government, Oh, glorious thought!—Government itſelf may be deſtroyed, and give place to ſweet chaos and confuſion. Then, my brethren, exciſes and taxation, ſo diſgraceful to a free people, ſhall be done away. The votes of our ſocieties ſhall become the law of the land—and d—n me, Bucks of Virginia, if you ſhall pay a debt to Britain; no, nor to thoſe ariſtocratic dogs amongſt you, who prattle ſo much about juſtice and order.—Theſe are the rewards which are now before you; if theſe do not ſtimulate you to action, why even ſit down like poor degraded ſlaves, and ſubmit to law and government.

BRADFORD.

FROM THE FARMER'S WEEKLY MUSEUM.

"But what went ye out to ſee? A reed ſhaken by the wind."

IDLE curioſity, what fools are thy worſhippers—how far they wander, and what pathleſs tracks they tread, to get a peep at ſome bauble, exhibited perhaps by a mountebank!

Then what, my dear townſmen at Boſton, do you go to ſee at the circus, at the ſtage of Signior Falconi? A horſe ſtrid'd by a clown? A tobacco pipe and ſoap bauble.

What, thou ſly ſpeculator, didſt thou go to behold in Georgia? Arable land, mill ſeats, and valuable timber? or was it to enjoy, from ſome Piſgah of the country a perſpective view of the South Sea, as it boiled and bubbled, when croſſed in the year 1720, by that bold navigator, Sir John Blunt.

Many are the reeds ſhaken by the wind; and much gaping people around to ſee a horſe-race, a calf with three legs, a 4th of July proceſſion, and a methodiſt preacher.

But what flame of genius is ſuddenly kindled in yonder barn, on our mountains? Ah, it is the new light, and how the multitude hover round to catch a glimpſe of glory! And did ye, O fooliſh Galatians, forſake the ſettled parſon, and prefer the meteor glare to the ſun of righteouſneſs?

One midſummer, I devoted to a viſit at Boſton, in order to read new books, and converſe with claſſical friends. On the night of the third of July, I ſat late diſputing with a learned divine, concerning a paſſage in Tertullian. I am prone to morning drowſineſs, & when I retired, I requeſted my landlady not to call me till late. But, the next morning from the harſh jingling of bells, I thought the town was bombarded, and its ſextons tolling out a general bill of mortality. I roſe, in ſome trepidation, and enquired, whether the French had actually commenced hoſtilities againſt America. No, ſays a laughing byſtander, the noiſe you hear are nothing but the ſweet accents of Liberty. This is her glorious day; and the multitude are all gone to ſee how ſhe rattles along in her cart. Come, Mr. Lay Preacher, and ſee the ſhew. Look at our 'viceroy' and the mob behind him, 'viceroy'sover him,' and there are the Jacobins, and there are the gentle inmates of Oliver's Dock, and there is a pretty ſcholar from Cambridge, who is to ſpeak the Noration and tell the Preſident, how to rule wiſely, according to the perfect law of democracy, and how Jay muſt behave when he goes to a court, and how Hamilton muſt caſt up the columns of the revenue. Come, come, this is a ſight you cannot ſee in Newhampſhire. I looked wiſtfully at my adviſer, went not to the window, but to my couch and ſlept very ſoundly, dreaming of Tertullian.

But why, ye multitude, do ye go out either into the wilderneſs, or ſtreets, to gaze at reeds and lions? Better is it for thee, O poor man to to ſtay at home, educating and maintaining thy children, than to impoveriſh a purſe already too ſcanty, by paying a juggler's fees. Better is it for thee, O ſon of riches, to ſuccour genius, to relieve the miſerable, and ſhelter the naked, than to enjoy the glorious privilege of beholding a Balloon inflated. Gratification of this idle curioſity, will like the volatile machine its ſource, vaniſh into "air, into thin air;" and leave not a remnant of complacency behind.

THE LAY PREACHER.

Extract of a letter from Major William C. C. Claiborne, of Teneſſee, to his friend in Richmond, dated Knoxville, Auguſt 25th, 1796.

"The news of our reception into the union, was received at this place with much pleaſure. The terms of admiſſion could not fail to excite diſcontent among a people, who knew and were attached to their rights—The granting us but one repreſentative (notwithſtanding our numbers exceed ſixty-ſix thouſand) is viewed as repugnant to every principle of juſtice and conſtitutional right—Meſſrs. Blount and Cocke, the gentlemen who during the laſt ſeſſion of Congreſs, were refuſed their ſeats as Senators from this ſtate, are re-elected by the legiſlature and proviſion is made for the election of electors to chuſe a Preſident and Vice Preſident. It is rumored amongſt us, but I know not from what authority, that the Preſident of the United States has declined, that after the 4th of March next, he will no longer ſerve in that capacity—That great character poſſeſſes in a great degree, the confidence of the people of this ſtate, and it is with regret they learn they are about to loſe the ſervices of the man, under whoſe adminiſtration we have riſen abroad to ſo much reſpectability as a nation, and at home, have experienced ſo much peace, happineſs and proſperity——Mr. Jefferſon is talked of here as his ſucceſſor, he is eſteemed a firm, honeſt and enlightened ſtateſman, warmly attached to the rights of man, and a friend to America in general, traits ſo conſpicuous in the character of the preſent Preſident.

Knowing the intereſt you take in the welfare of this ſtate, I muſt add, that emigrants are coming in daily, from every part of the Union, and that the inhabitants ſtimulated to induſtry by having found laſt year, an immediate market for the ſurplus of their proviſions, have vaſt quantities of lands in cultivatton, and the oldeſt reſidenters inform me, that the proſpects for crops, never were ſo favorable—Notwithſtanding the immenſe emigration, the price of land is yet moderate; the moſt perfect peace prevails with the Indians, and there is great probability of its continuance.

The "Courier of the Legiſlative Body, and of the War," printed at Paris July 13, was put into the hands of the Editor of the Argus yeſterday—it contains among other articles which have already been given, the following IMPORTANT LETTER from, General Moreau. No letter from this brave General has yet appeared in the New-York papers of ſo late a date. The concluſion of a report of the ſaid General, appears to have been written about that time, as it relates to the atchievments of the ſame general, viz. St. Cyr.

ARMY OF THE RHINE AND MOSELLE.

Head-quarters at Baden, 18 Meſſidor, (July 6,) 4th year of the French Republic.

The General in Chief to the Executive Directory.

CITIZENS DIRECTORS,

In my laſt report, I gave an account of my project for marching againſt Raſtadt and Freudenſtadt.

At day break yeſterday morning the troops began to move; that under the general Deſaix to attack all that it finds between the Rhine and the Mountains, and general St. Cyr to attack the poſition of Freudenſtadt.

This laſt affair was exceedingly briſk; The reinforcements of the Auſtrians had arrived; the arms of our troops, after the ſevere rains, were in a frightful ſtate, and could not be fired. Gen. La Roche, commanding this attack, ordered his infantry to fix their bayonets, and they carried the works after a moſt vigorous reſiſtance on the part of the enemy, whoſe loſs, in killed and wounded, was very conſiderable. —We took about 100 priſoners, of whom ſeveral are cadets. General La Roche, whoſe bravery merits the greateſt enlogies, was wounded in the hand by a muſket ball. The 21ſt brigade of light infantry, and the other troops employed in this attack conducted themſelves with the greateſt bravery.

The march of the left wing was attended by a continual combat, from Buhl to Oſt. The enemy at this laſt village in particular, made the moſt obſtinate reſiſtance: Their poſition was excellent, its left at Baden, its right at Olbach.—The left was finally forced by the Mountains, the charge beat at the attack in front of the village of Oſt, and we finally were rendered maſters of it. We took here a captain and about 80 men. This attack was planned by General St. Suſanne and Adj. Gen. Deceau, under the orders of Gen. Deſaix. Gen. Delmas has equally chaſed all he could find between the Rhine and the Olbach.

The night and the great fatigue of the troops forced me to poſtpone the attack of the enemy's poſitions at Raſtadt, Ruperſheim, and Guerbach, until the next day. The general officers and the troops continue to give the greateſt proofs of talents and courage. All the armies have diſtinguiſhed themſelves. I made on the field of battle, a ſergeant of a corporal of 17th half brigade of light infantry, who, himſelf, captured three priſoners.

General Farino, on the ſame day carried the enemies works at Bibrach, in the valley of Kintzig; General St. Cyr ſupported this movement by cauſing ſome troops to march to Oppenau.

Health and Reſpect.
(Signed)
MOREAU.

FROM THE SAME PAPER.

Extract of a Letter from an Officer of the Army of the Sambre and Meuſe.

"When the paſſing of the Rhine at Neuwied was forced by Jourdan, the two princes of Rohan had paſſed part of the night drinking with Generals Fincke and Bendorff: to ſave themſelves, were obliged to diſguiſe a la Sans Culotte, being mounted on horſeback with a ſhirt only. The Auſtrian general having loſt his poſt chaiſe, his maps, his wife, and his hat, undertook the charge to regain them, but it ſerved only to ſacrifice about 20 of his chevaliers. Our grenadiers exclaimed—"Le pauvre general eſt f - - - il a perdu ſa carte."

VIENNA, JULY 3.

The intelligence received three days ago from the Rhine, of the ſucceſs of his royal highneſs the archduke Charles, has cauſed much joy in our court.—— [One would imagine that the miniſters of this poor deluded Emperor make him believe that his armies, by loſing battles, are gaining victories over the republicans. Should that be the caſe, we confidently promiſe him a continuance of joy.] Remark of the French Editor.

If we give credit to a letter from Landſhut in Bavaria, dated the 1ſt of July, there are actually in Bavaria, and in the upper Palatinate, upwards of 1200 emigrant prieſts.

We find by the letter that particular notice was taken of one M. de la Galaiſure, a French biſhop, who had reſided for ſeveral years paſt at Landſhut. It appears that the prelate at different times ordered all the French prieſts ſecretly, to buy up all kinds of proviſion, which he intended to tranſport to the army of the prince of Conde. This ſlight manœuvre having been diſcovered, the proviſion which yet remained in ſtore was confiſcated, & the biſhop himſelf was commanded by the government to depart from the city, without loſs of time, which he did inſtantly, but has ſince been arreſted at Munich, being accuſed of other treaſonable practices.

The prince of Cobourg is to put himſelf at the head of an army of thirty thousand Ruſſians, who are to march towards the frontiers of Gallatia; they are to be divided into two bodies, one of which is to cover that province, and the other to terminate the differences which always ſubſiſt between the Pruſſian and Auſtrian commiſſioners, reſpecting the demarkation of its limits. Although this news has been handed to us as authentic, we venture to ſay it will not be confirmed.

From Paris Papers.

RATISBON, JULY 5.

The Baron de Gemmingen, miniſter of the Duke of Brunſwick, has received orders from his ſovereign, to notify, in his name, conjointly with the ambaſſadors of the Elector of Brandenburg, Hanover, and Brunſwick, to the Imperial miniſter reſident in this city, that it was his intention to unite together in one body a number of Pruſſian and Brunſwick troops, as well as troops of the empire; and that different ſtates had charged themſelves with the expence of maintaining this body; that this meaſure had been dictated by neceſſity, and the principles of ſelf preſervation; that its object had been to ſecure the northern part of Germany from invaſion, and inſure its tranquility: and that as ſuch an organization, ſo far from being contrary to the conſtitution, was even favored by it, his Serene Highneſs flatters himſelf that this ſtep will meet with his Imperial majeſty's approbation.

The affair of the Abbe Salabert, miniſter of the Duke of Deux-Ponts, ſtill remains in uncertainty. The courts of Brandenburg, Savony, Hanover, Heſſe Caſſel, and Wurtzburg, have demanded a termination of it in an amicable manner, without its being laid before the Diet. On the 28th of laſt June. Baron de Hugal, the imperial commiſſioner, having received the anſwer of the court of Vienna, gave the miniſters of the claimants to underſtand, "that in the preſent caſe the Emperor could not be conſidered as the head of the Empire, but as the ſovereign of his own dominions, and that conſequently he left the entire management of the affair to the Duke of Deux-Ponts.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

An arrival at New-York, from Greenock, brings London accounts to the 4th of Auguſt. Among the moſt important articles is a Manifeſto from the Court of Spain to the Britiſh Cabinet—its authenticity is queſtioned; but there is little doubt but it contains ſome of the charges on which the miſunderſtanding between theſe powers is founded, and is in ſubſtance as follows:

"The Spaniſh cabinet retraces the origin of the coalition, and mentions the principal circumſtances, as well as the different events, in which both nations took an active part, during their alliance, againſt the French republic. This ſtatement is followed by an account of ſeveral tranſactions which have taken place before and ſince the ceceſſion of Spain from the coalition, and the treaty of peace concluded with France, as—

"Firſt, The St. Jago prize ſhip, which the note contends to have been condemned in open contempt of ſubſiſting treaties and legal forms.

"Secondly, Divers circumſtances which attend the capture and evacuatin of Toulon, on which occaſion the Spaniſh cabinet aſſerts, that the Britiſh commanders fulfilled none of the terms granted to the inhabitants under the guarantee of the Spaniſh commanders; and that they carried off ſeveral ſhips, without allowing the Spaniards any part of the prizes.

"Thirdly, the embargo laid in our ports on wood for ſhip-building, bought up in the North of Europe, on account of the Spaniſh government, which was left rotting either on board the ſhips, or in warehouſes, where it could not be taken care of.

"Fourthly, The embargo laid on fire arms purchaſed in England on account, and with the conſent of our government, after the French had got poſſeſſion of the Spaniſh founderies, which fire arms were obliged to be re-ſold by the Spaniſh agents at a conſiderable loſs.

"Fifthly, The inſult offered to his Catholic majeſty, in the perſon of the marquis de las Caſas, his ambaſſador, when he had his firſt audience with lord Grenville.

"Sixthly, The ſeizure of the ſilks ſent to this country by Spaniſh merchants, which they had bought up on their own account at the ſale of the prizes made by admiral Richery, and which they had ſent to England conformable to the laws of Great Britain.

"Seventhly, The ſtoppage of ſeveral Spaniſh veſſels; the vexatious proceedings daily exerciſed againſt them by the commanders of the ſquadrons of his Britannic Majeſty, as well in the Mediterranean as in other ſeas."

Accounts from Frankfort ſay, that Mentz is blockaded on every ſide. The plan of the French is to effect a junction of the armies of the Sambre and Meuſe under Jourdan, with that of the Moſelle, under Moreau, and both with that of Italy, under Buonaparte.

Paris accounts of the 27th of July, ſay, that the Auſtrians are in full retreat towards Bohemia and behind the Danube, before the army of Jourdan;—That the French had got poſſeſſion of Manheim, and that a commiſſioner with overtures of PEACE from the Emperor has arrived at Baſle. There was a report in Paris, that the Engliſh fleet met with and engaged Richery off Cadiz.—[This muſt be premature.]

The ſeveral poſitions of the French on the Rhine were propitious to that gallant nation and army—but no material action had taken place ſince thoſe received by the Jenny, Capt. Chancey, on the 15th inſt.

A letter from General Jourdan, dated July 16, ſpeaks of a propoſition for an ARMISTICE by Duke Charles.

WEST-INDIA INTELLIGENCE.

BRIDGE-TOWN, (BARBADOES,) AUGUST 20.

On Thurſday laſt arrived in Carliſle bay, in 21 days expreſs, from rear admiral Mann, ſtationed off Cadiz, his Majeſty's frigate La Magicienne, capt. William H. P. Ricketts with diſpatches of the higheſt importance, as relating to the probability of war with Spain; which his excellency the governor has officially notified to the merchants of this town, and which we have full authority to ſtate as above.

On the arrival of the frigate there were as uſual, a great variety of reports in circulation, but ſo little truth attached to many, that we ſhould find much difficulty in ſeparating thoſe even of probable appearance had we not obtained the following particulars from a reſpectable ſource:

Lord Bute, the reſident miniſter at Madrid, having ſeen with juſt apprehenſion, the formidable preparations of that court, adviſed General O'Hara of theſe hoſtile diſpoſitions, who has immediately adopted every meaſure to place the important fortreſs (Gibraltar) under his command, in ſuch a reſpectable ſtate, as to preclude a ſurpriſe, and enable him to defend it with effect.

A Spaniſh fleet of eight ſail of the line and ſix frigates having about the ſame time, formed a junction with Richery, who has been ſo long blockaded at Cadiz, making together thirteen ſail of the line and ſix frigates, were preparing to ſail the firſt opportunity for St. Domingo, with an intention as is conceived, of calling at ſome of the Windward Iſlands, or probably to inveſt Jamaica, having 5000 troops on board, but that active and indefatigable officer, rear admiral Mann, being appriſed of their intention of ſailing, more cloſely blocked the port, yet ſtill apprehending the probable conſequences to the Weſt Indies, ſhould ſo formidable a force allude his vigilance, and arrive here unexpectedly, diſpatched la Magicienne with theſe important accounts, and from hence ſhe will immediately proceed to Jamaica with ſimilar advices.

From the general complexion of affairs, ſcarce a doubt can now be entertained of a war with Spain; the reſtleſs diſpoſition of the governing power in France, has been long aiming at this object, and Spain unequal to combat with the internal factions which threaten the exiſtence of her arbitrary power may at length be compelled to enter into foreign hoſtilities, to preſerve her domeſtic tranquility.

FROM THE CENTINEL OF LIBERTY.

"There is a national gratitude for individuals,"

And never perhaps was there another man ſo highly deſerving it, no one perhaps has ſo fully and permanently enjoyed it, as GEORGE WASHINGTON. Fellow-citizens, you have now perhaps the laſt counſels of this beloved Father of his country. You read them with the moſt lively ſenſibility. But ſhall they not conſtantly recur? Are the not worthy to become a part of your political creed? This venerable ſtateſman and patriot, is about retiring from his exalted ſtation; but from that elevated point, of years and of the moſt luminous and commanding experience—from the ſummit of glory he will continue to preſent his own clear and extenſive views. Shall he conjure you in vain to liſten to his voice and the voice of Reaſon? You are now admitted into the cabinet of one (at leaſt) of the moſt enlightened, and greateſt men the world ever produced—will you not profit by that wiſdom and magnanimity which have been increaſing and matured through a long life of the moſt glorious ſervices? Yes, theſe farewell counſels of our illuſtrious Friend muſt both touch our hearts and enlighten our views—they ſhall be handed down as a legacy to poſterity—they ſhall be for ages another dear and venerable memorial of our then departed hero—our firſt Preſident. They will moſt certainly aſſiſt to ſhed a luſtre over the firſt pages of our hiſtory. They help to form an altar, where the pure fire of patriotiſm, of juſtice and union, of peace and virtue, will for ever be ſeen to blaze.

May that fire enkindle the ſame holy and unextinguiſhable flame in a mighty nation!

FROM A NEW-YORK PAPER.

A Correſpondent ſays,

Much has been ſaid of the barbarity, of the inhumanity, and of the want of confidence in Indian or ſavage tribes. Let us look into it—a few days ſince an Indian was taken for having committed murder, and bro't before a civilized tribunal, accompnied by more than 20 chiefs of his nation; his examination was candid, and circumſtances appeared ſufficient to order a commitment. No objection was offered on the part of the Indians, except that the criminal ſhould be neither bound nor tied; and they would be his ſponſers. This was complied with, and the Indian remained all night, rambling the ſtreets without any one to guard him. In the morning, however he was at his poſt, & went to jail ſinging merrily.—Truſt me, if you can find an inſtance of the kind in the civilized world.

Another Correſpondent adds,

View them in the diſtribution of their annuities, they receive each one, from the ſuckling to the ſage, an equal ſhare, and they go away contented with their proportion. All above 14 ſpends his money as he pleaſes—that of thoſe below, goes to the parents. No civilized nation practices thoſe indubitable rights.

Sept. 17.

A VERY VALUABLE MERCHANT MILL, A DISTILLERY AND BREWERY, AND SUNDRY STONE QUARRIES TO BE LET.

I WILL rent my Merchant Mill at the Little Falls of Potowmac, for any term, not less than seven, or more than eleven years, from the first day of September next. The Mill house is 42 by 40 feet, three stories high, built with stone, and has in it 3 pair of French burr stons, two overshot 18 feet water wheels, and Evans's machinery complete, with every other thing proper and necessary for carrying on the business with dispatch, and at as little expence as possible, all in good order.—From the mill to my landing on the Potomac river, (where crafts of any burthen may deliver grain, and take in flour) it is about 40 yards, and from thence by water to George-Town and the City of Washington, about three miles, and to Alexandria about 11 miles. This situation aided by a sufficient capital, will command the produce of a very extensive back country, where large quantities of wheat and other grain is annually made, the distance to it being from 8 to 10 miles less, than to any market town upon the navigation of the Potowmack. There are on the premisses a large stone Cooper's shop, a stone granery and a commodious Miller's house. At the landing aforesaid a bridge is now building over the Potomac, which is in great forwardness and probably will be finished the ensuing Fall.

There are also on the premises a Brewery and Distillery built with stone, in them are three stills, two coppers or boilers, with every necessary article, all new, and in good order, and sufficiently large to carry on the Brewery and Distillery, upon a very extensive plan. This property I will rent for the same term of years.

Upon my lands adjoining the premises, and along the banks of the river, where crafts may load with ease and dispatch, is an immense quantity of building and foundation stones, four quarries are now open, and as many more may be opened with ease, the stone taken from these quarries is better, and has the preference at this market, to any other stone brought to it. I will rent these quarries seperately or together as may best suit.

Upon the top of the hill, and about 200 yards from the Mill is a stone Dwelling house, large enough for the accommodation of a family, also, a kitchen, Dairy, smoke house, &c. and a garden enclosed, and in cultivation, the soil of which is equal in goodness to any in this state. I will also rent this property.

Adjoining to the Brewery and Distillery is a Smith's shop in which is a complete set of Blacksmith's tools, which I will also rent, and if agreeable I will hire to the tenant two negro blacksmiths, one of them is a complete workman.

If I rent out the stone quarries, I will sell three crafts which were built for the purpose of carrying stone. They will altogether bring upwards of 90 perch. Immediate possession will be given, for terms apply to the subscriber in this town.

The Mill, Brewery and Distillery with their appurtenances will be delivered to the tenant or tenants in good repair, and must be so returned, at the expiration of the lease or leases.

PHILIP RICHARD FENDALL.
